Rebel Ships Attack the Forts at Rio de Janeiro.

A Few Shells Thrown Into the City During the Engagement.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 14.—Secretary resham has received the following cable rom Minister Thompson at Rio de Janeiro.

shelled, but that the fighting has been between the forts of seats Grurand-san Juan and the ships.

No further details of the reported assault by the rebels on Nitherohi (or Nictheroy), three days ago, have been learned at London. In that engagement the assaulting force was said to have lost fifty-one men killed and a large number were wounded. Nitherohi is five miles distant from Rio on the opposite side of the bay. It was at one time the capital of the country.

If the garrisons of the forts protecting the city join the rebels the capital will fall an easy prey to the revolutionists and President Peixoto will be compelled to fiee. The land forces, it is believed, could not, even if they remained loy al, long withstand an attack of Mellos' squadron.

There are two parts of the city, the old and new town. They are separated by a space called the Campo do Houra. Its citef public buildings are the palace formerly occupied by the Emperor, and now used as the official residence of the President, a similar building near the bay, used for police officers, the naval and military arsenal. These are all plain brick structures. There are fifty churches in the city. None of the buildings possess external elevance.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BATTLE. LONDON, Sept. 14.-Late this afternoon news agency secured advices from Monte-video, Uruguay, purporting to give a de-scription of the battle between the forts and ships at Rio. The dispatch says: The rebel warships, including the cruisers Aquidaban, Republica and Arajano, took up cositions before the forts shortly before 9 o'clock yesterday morn-ng, and a little after that hour the signal to fire was set and was promptly obeyed. The first gun was fired from the flagship of the fleet, and its detonation had dled away before the shot was answered from the fort at which it was directed. The firing then became general and the noise was deafening.

From all advices at hand, however, it appears that little damage was done either to the forts or the warships. The four twentyton breech-loading guns of the Aquidaban did not appear to be well handled, and many of their balls went wide of their marks. Equally markmanship was displayed by the ent prevailed in the city during the conm.. after the bombardment had hours, the signal, "Cease firing" was displayed on the flagship, and the rebel fleet withdrew. There were a few casualties among the Government troops. The loss to the rebels or the damage to the steamships is unknown.

London, Sept. is.—Only the most meager news has been received from Rio de Janiero in the past forty-eight hours. The announcement cabled yesterday that the rebel squadron in the bay before the capital had formally notified the representatives of foreign governments that the Dombardment of the city would begin at 9 o'clock was supplemented last evening by another dispatch that the attack began at 11 o'clock and that one of the forts, relied on to defend the capital, had at the first shot from the ships struck its colors and surrende red to the rebel commander, Admiral de Mellos.

Five Offensive Journals Have Been Suspended-Public Assemblies.

PRACTIC Sept. 14. - In accordance with the mperial decree issued yesterday, suspending articles 12 and 13 of the constitutional Czech journals, the utterances of which were offensive to the Government, have been suspended. In order to be certain that no further adverse comments upon the imperial decrees shall be published the Government has ordered that all articles intended for publication in Czech papers must be submitted to the police for approval or rejection three hours before the papers go to press.

One of the provisions of the suspended law has reference to public assemblies. Clubs have been construed to come under this head and several club-houses have been closed and the funds and paraphernalia of the organs seized. The young Czechs are deeply indignant at the action of the Imperial Government, and there is much suppressed exciteinent among the political group. The authorities are vigilant, however, and it is scarcely believed that the anti-German agitation will go much beyond legitimate bounds.

DISSOLUTION PROBABLE.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Sept. 14.—There is every evidence of the dissolution of the Dominion Parliament. The Government has organized a campaign in nearly every constituency and a campaign in nearly every constituency and Ministers who had arranged to go to the Pacific Coast have canceled the trip to take the stump in Ontario and Quebec. It is understood that there will be a short session in November and elections in January. The Government finds its strength rapidly decining since it has practically abandoned the policy of closer trade relations with the United States, the main plank in the Liberal platform. It is therefore necessary to appeal to the country.

SILVER IN INDIA. CALCUTTA, Sept. 14.—The action of the Earl of Kimberly, Secretary of State for India, in decilining to sell India council drafts yester-day under is pence per rupse, had a most steadying effect upon exchange. The con-tinued importation of silver attracts atten-tion, and it seems ridiculous that the Gov-ernment should continue the coinage of sil-ver taken from the banks, thus adding to the redundancy of silver money. The opinion grows that it would be better to sell the sil-ver yet uncoined and thereby meet the exist-ing demand for the metal for jewelry manu-facturing purposes than to allow further silver imports. declining to sell India council drafts yester-

Voorhees Will Press Repeal Discussion to a Speedy End.

Necessary, However, to Observe Certain Traditional Senatorial Courtesies.

The Country Has Overestimated the Time Actually Consumed by the Senate in Considering the Messure-Two Weeks More Mentioned as the Limit for Oratory-After That Filbustering Would Not Be Tolerated-Congress and Capttal News.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Debate on the repeal bill has reached a point where the people are beginning to expect something to be done. Mr. Voorhees being the chief engineer in the matter they naturally look to m to take the initial step. In regard to the situation Mr. Voorhees said to-day that he was still determined to press the repeal bill to as early consideration as possible.

"It is, however, necessary," he said, "to beerve the courtesies required by the traditions and rules of the Senate, and I really believe that by showing due regard to these points we shall be able to make greater proress than if we violated them. Senators who oppose the bill must soon come to see that we have been acting with exceptional liberality, and I am sure that sort of conduct will have its effect upon them. There is undoubtedly scope yet left for considerable legitimate debate and there is no means, if there were disposition, of pressing the question to a vote before every Senator has had an opportunity to say what he may wish. We have not really consumed as much time in the discussion of this question as the country seems to think, and I have every reason to believe that we shall be able to reach a vote in a comparatively short time." Pressed to say now long the time would be, he named two weeks as the limit of debate After that if the speech-making was continued it would indicate a purpose to fillbuster, and he did not believe that tactics for simple delay could be long pursued. Nor did he think there would be any disposition among the opponents of repeal, aside, possibly, from the Senators of the silver-producing States, to necessarily consume the time of the Senate and those Senators couldnot expect to continue the contest long without assistance of Senators from other sections of the country. .

Replying to a question as to how he expected to bring the matter to a close, Mr. Voorhees said that the legitimate speechsoon resolve itself into one of physical endurance, and he expected soon to ask the Senate to hold longer daily sessions and, indeed, continue them into the night. He thought that this course would be justified after this week, and he would move in this direction and with this specific end in view within the next three or four days.

Asked what he thought would be the dis-osition of the Senate to compromise on the line of the Faulkner amendment. Mr. Voorhees replied that he did not would be any amendment of the bill, and he was of the opinion that the silver men would show greater strength in their vote in oppoaw in this city and its suburbs, five young sition to the straight repeal bill than upon Czech journals, the utterances of which were any other proposition which would be ought before the Senate in connction with the present legislation.

of $3,000,000 amonth, and at this rate it will take more than three-years to coin the seignorage and buillon now in the Treasury, the estimate being made, of course, on the coinage value of the buillon. When that period has elapsed the Secretary is directed to buy

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Some members are inclined to grumble at Mr. Richardson's public printing bill because, they say, it is destined to turn all the immense patronage of the public printing into the hands of the printing committees, which they consider an unnecessary concentration of power. This is not stated in concise terms in the lengthy measure, but would be the result of an enforcement, they say.

Another thing which it would do is to abolish the House document room. Down in this room, in the catacombs of the Capital are the only complete files extant of the Congressional documents since the Fourteenth Congress. They constitute an invaluable library of themselves, and to abolish the office would be to turn them over to the tender mercles of some other official, probably the Sergeant at Arms, with whom the custody would be a side issue, with the possibility of losses and separation. age of the public printing into the hands of Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—In refusing a pardon to a pension attorney, J. K. Foxworthy of Lincoln, Neb., convicted of collecting illegal fees, President Cleveland expresses his views as follows:

Denied—It seems that the charging of greater fees than those allowed by the pensions laws was not unusual in the practice of this defendant. Assuming that the statute on this subject is a wholesome one (and I than it is) and that it operates as a protection to soldiers seeking pension, i do not see why it should not be enforced, and I do not find a sufficient reason on this application for the exercise of clemency.

THE TWO HOUSES.

The Fight Over the Tucker Bill Already On in the House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 14 .- The galleries of the House were pretty well filled this morning in anticipation of the preliminary skirmish over the Tucker bill for the repea of the federal election laws. This bill is destined when it gets into the arena of debate to stir partisan rancor to its lowest depths. The fact that the president is supposed to be opposed to its consideration at this time increased the interest with which the first passage at arms was witnessed.

The fight began before the chapiain's voice had died out. Strange to say, Mr. Burrows, who divides with Mr. Reed the leadership of the Republican side, surprised the House by beginning at the jump a species of covert filibuster to prevent the report of the bill to the House. He was standing in the center alse when the chapiain was praying for peace and harmony, and as 500n as the invocation ceased he asked unanimous consent that the call of committeemen for reports be dispensed with.

Mr. Tucker, the author of the bill, as well as other Democratic members who are interested in wiping the federal election laws from the statute books, ricked their ears.

"I object," shouted Mr. Tucker.

Mr. Burrows then moved that the call be dispensed with.

It being evident that Mr. Burrows intended federal election laws.

Mr. Burrows then moved that the call be dispensed with.

It being evident that Mr. Burrows intended to go to a show down of hands, Mr. Tucker called for the yeas and nays. It was apparent as the roll-call proceeded that the Republicans were grimly resolute that to day's fight was not to be simply a passing brush. They remained in their seats, impassively refusing to vote in order to break a quorum. Quite a number of the administration Democrats reflected, while those in opposition to the present consideration of the bill joined with their Republican colleagues across the alsie and also refused to answer to their names.

Then the Speaker announced the result of the vote—ayes, 4; nays, 106—the point of no quorum was made. Whereupon a call of the flouse developed the presence of 160 members. The doors were ordered closed and the messengers of the Sergeant—at Arms were dispatched in all directions to bring in absent members.

Archbishop Kenrick's Appointment of a Vicar-General.

What Fr. Ziegler Says About Fr. Connolly's Elevation.

N ENTANGLEMENT WHICH BOME WILL HAVE TO STRAIGHTEN OUT.

Coadjutor Kain Stripped of His Powers by Archbishop K nrick's Latest Action-Row Fr. Connolly Receive the Appointment-What He Has to ray-Fr. Ziegler Talks Out.

Rev. Fr. J. A. Connolly, pastor of St eresa's Church, has been appointed vicargeneral for the English speaking Catholics of the Archdiocess of St. Louis, by Arch-bishop Kenrick. Fr. Connolly called to see the Archbishop on Aug. 28, with regard to an assistant; his grace said that he would take the matter under advisement, and Fr. Connolly returned last Tuesday to learn what decision the aged prelate had reached. The pas-St. Theresa's was startled tor of when Archbishop Kenrick greeted him with "I want you to be my vicar-general.!" Fr. Connolly protested that he did not want th office, but the Archbishop sternly insisted on his acceptance, and the pries submitted. The letters of appointment bor date of Sept. 3. It is worthy of note that Sept. 3 was Sunday, the day that the Co adjutor, Archbishop Kain, started for Chicago to attend the Catholic Congress. He came to St. Louis two days before, Friday.

Fr. Connolly himself terms the appointment a thunderbolt from a clear sky. It is needless to say that this metaphor aptly describes the astonishment of the Catholic clergy and latty. Fr. Connolly made an appointment yesterday by direction of archbishop Kenrick, Rev. Patrick Woods, assistant to Fr. Coyle at the Cathedral, having been transferred to the pastorate of the church at Richwoods, Washington Co., Mo. Fr. Connolly in his official capacity signed he papers of transfer.

WHAT FR. CONNOLLY SAYS. "Yes, I have been appointed Vicar-Gen-ral," said Fr. Connolly to a Post-DISPATCH reporter yesterday. "But I do not know what motives influenced Archbishop Kenrick; I do not know what understanding he may have had with Archbishop Kain previous to the latter's departure for Chicago; ous to the latter's departure for Chicago; and I do not know how permanent the office may be. For these reasons I do not care to comment on my appointment until the coadjufor returns. For the same reasons, too, I was desirous to maintain silence about the matter.'

Fr. Connolly was very conscious that he has been placed in a very awkward position toward the coadjutor, whose office and standing has been, to say the least, made unpleasant and peculiar. Fr. Connolly is aware also that despite what he may, or may not say, he will be criticised. Hence he takes refuge in silence.

The action of the old Archbishop opens annew the floodgates of The action of the old Archbishop opens anow the floodgates of ecclesiastical gossip, which have been locked, of late, on account of the confidence in the ability and the power of the coadjutor. Archbishop Kenrick plainly indicates by his appointment of Fr. Connoily that he latends to exercise absolute sway in the diocese, and in a diplomatic sense, to ignore the coadjutor. The latter is now in Chicago, where he has been since the morning of Sept. 4. Next Sunday he will be at Dubuque, Io., to take part in the ceremonies attending the conferring of the pallium upon Bishop Henceses, it will return to St Louisin time conterring of the paintain upon Bishop hear-nessey. He will return to St. Louis in time to officiate at the dedication of the Kenrick Seminary, next Thursday, the 21st 1nst. Startling developments may then be looked for.

It may be of interest in connection with the complication to quote the common law on the rights of coadjutor. In the ninth edition of "Elements of Ecclesiastical Law," by Rev. S. B. Smith, D. D., a work which has the approval of Cardinals McCloskey, Newman and Menning and many American bishops, occurs this passage.

COADMITTERS' REMITS COADJUTORS' RIGHTS.

COADJUTORS' RIGHTS.

The nature of these rights depends chiefly upon the tenor of the apostolle letters patent by which coadjutors are appointed. It, however, the apostolle letters patent by which coadjutors are appointed. If, however, the apostolle letters are not sufficiently explicit, the powers in question must be determined by the reason which caused the appointment. Thus a coadjutor whether temporary or permanent, assigned to an insace bishop, obtains complete administration of the dicesse in the coadjutor has the same power as though he was the actual bishop of the dicesse; he cannot, however, alleniate ecclesiastical goods. On the other hand a coadjutor, given to a bishop who is merely infirm or old, can only perform those duties which the Bishop is unable or unwilling to discharge, but not those which the Bishop has reserved to himself. Hence it may be said that as a rule the coadjutor in this case should undertake nothing without the advice and consent of the bishop. But if the bishop objects unreasonably to the exceeded are actions the will of the former. Amore prudent course, however, is to refer the matter to the Holy See.

FR. WALSH METICERT.

FR. WALSH RETICENT. The priests discussed the appointment of a vicar-general with much animation. Not all, however, were ready to air their very radical comments in public. For instance Fr.
William Walsh responded to a reporter's selfintroduction, "I have nothing at all to say, sir," with an imprecatory gesture of the hands.

the hands.

But, father, you do not know about what I have come to question you." He assumed a listening attitude, and the reporter cona listening attitude, and the reporter con-tinued:

"What significance do you attach to the appointment of Father Connolly?"
Up went the hands again. "I have nothing at all to say. I have nothing at all to say," he reiterated.

"I can hardly believe that the report of Fr. Connolly's appointment is confect." said Fr. Zeigler of St. Malachy's Church, this

Fr. Connoily's appointment is correct, "said Fr. Zeigler of St. Malachy's Ohurch, this morning. If it is really so, perhaps it is all for the best, as it will bring matters to a crisis. Archbishop Kain was chosen by the priests of this diocese to rule over them and kome confirmed their selection. If the Archbishop has seen fit to disregard our selection, and instead of vesting authority in the representative affirmed by the Vatican has conferred it on another, the adjustment of the matter lies with Rome. For that reason I think just now the St. Louis priests will not take any action. That is only my own opinion, however; I cannot speak for the priests. Of course you know the appointment of a Vicar-General would leave the Coadjutor Bishop without the slightest semblance of authority.

"It is a very queer situation. The old Archbishop ruminates in his room and is living his whole life over again in visions. He thinks he is ordening and apaframing and performing his priestly functions. He leads the life of a visionary, and strongest of all that strongest trait in his character, his obstinacy, has come out most prominently. He thinks now that he is absolutely above all authority and refuses to believe there can be any possible restraint on him. The church's temporal interests are suffering, as well as her spiritual ones. I do not think Mg. So toll or the Gardinai will come here on sunday, as announced, since this has bean made public. The crisis has come and it will be long in settling."

Fr. Connoily is the youngest in point of service of the prominent city pastors. He was ordained in this diocese by Archbishop Kearlek several years ago and Kearick several years ago and stationed as a curate at St. Bridget's Church. After that he was removed to De Soto, Mo., where he had charge of a parish. After the death of Fr. Flanagan a year ago the succession to his parish was looked upon by many of the city clergy as a rich plum. But it did not fell to their lot, as Fr. Connolly was brought up from De Soto and placed in charge. He was an intimate friend of the late Fr. Brady, and was one of the few priesta that refused to sign the petition against him. This point evidently put him in high favor with Archbishop Kenrick as his appointment to the Vicar-General-ship after hardly a year's residence in the diocese will attest.

ESTHER CLEVELAND.

Baby Ruth's Little Stater Named by Her

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Esther is the name chosen for baby Ruth's sister, It was so announced by President Cleveland this noon, and the bright little new-comer, about which so much has been said, will, it is understood, so much has been said, will, it is understood, be christened as soon as Mrs. Cleveland is able to take her to the church. Dr. Sunderland of the First Presbyterian Church, where the Cleveland family worship, will in all probability perform the sacred ceremony, christening the little Esther.

This name is known to be a favorite of Mrs. Cleveland. After baby Ruth was christened she remarked in the presence of a number of friends that if she ever had another daughter she intended to name it Esther. Mrs. Perrin, Mrs. Cleveland's mother, wanted to name the new-comer, but Mrs. Cleveland insisted, and after a family conference the President decided that Mrs. Cleveland should have her say, and so it will be baby Esther.

As soon as this decision was reached the President came into his office and informed his Secretary, Mr. Thurber, and he at once informed the press,

WAS VERY MODEST.

Mr. Harrison's Request of the Board of Public Improvements.

Somewhat of a sensation was created this orning at the meeting of the Board of Pub-Improvements by the appearance Mr. John M. Howard, Secretary of the Shickle, Harrison & Howard Iron Co.. who asked the board not to award the con-tract to the Chattanooga Iron and Pipe Works, the lowest bidder.

The reasons assigned by Mr. Harrison were that there was only a difference of $1,497.50 between the bid of his company and that of the Chattanooga people and his company was a nome concern and had some 500 families in the city depending on them for work. It was the duty of the board, he said, to patronize home industries and these men would probably not see secure employment during the winter, if this con tract went outside the city. This re tract went outside the city. This remarkable statement really took away the breath of the members of the board who still had fresh in their memory the bid of Mr. Harrison's concern at the first letting. It will be remembered, as published in the Post Distance at the time. When bids were first advertised for the 5,475 tons of water pipe the representatives of three concerns met at Tony Faust's and over a wine supper entered lato a combine to do up the city. It was agreed that Harrison & Howard of Bessemer, Ala., should have the contract, and the price was fixed high enough to give a handsome "rake off" all around. When the bids were opened the next day the lowest was that of Harrison&Howard, $24.90 per ton, and stranke to say, there was no bid from the Chattanooga foundry, whose representative only a few weeks before, had secured a contract for 300 pieces of 20 inch pipe at $21 per ton.

ALL BIDS WERE REJECTED.

ALL BIDS WERE REJECTED. representative of the company, for not putting in a bid was that they could not cast the peculiar kind of bell-pipe called for the peculiar kind of bell-pipe called for in the specifications. Water Commissioner Holman, who had evidence of the conspiracy, induced the board to reject all bids and advertise for another letting.

This took place last Tuesday and much to the surprise of the members or the board there was a tremendous drop in the prices. The Chattanooga people were lowest at 19.40 per ton, a difference of $5.50 per ton on the former lowest bid. Harrison & Howard's bid was a mixed one and ranged from $25 per ton for the smaller size to $18.50 per ton for the larger. The difference between the two bids as a whole was $4.97.50 but the difference between both of these hids and the first one made by Harrison & Howard was over $30,000.

clean and clear of this 530,000, and the pipemen's combine would have pocketed it without any scruples whatever. And now that these gentlemen have been beaten at their own game they come in, as a member of the board expressed it, and "play the baby act."

Mr. Holman admits that if a bid as low as 328 had been put in a first, he would have thought it reasonable, and said nothing, but he could not consent to any such wholesale robbery as was planned. As to the request of Mr. Howard in the face of these facts the board looked at it in the light of an unmitigated piece of gall.

The firm of Shickle, Harrison & Howard of St. Louis did not put in a bid. It was Harrison & Howard of Ressemer, Ala., a foreign concern owned by the same parties. The board contended that the local concern could not make the pipe, if it had the contract, and two-thirds of it would be cast in Alabama.

The Chattanooga Foundry made the lowest bona fide bid and were considered by the board justly entitled to the contract.

Mr. Harrison's request was accordingly ignored and the contract awarded the Chattanooga people. It is stated that the local concern will bring its influence to bear on the members of the City Council and endeavor to have the contract disapproved.

At a meeting of the employee of the Shickle, Harrison & Howard Irou Co. yesterday resolutions were adouted, protesting against the award of the above contract to the Chattanooga company, the firm, no doubt, Instigating the action.

A BOY'S HEAD TURNED.

GREENVILLE, Ill., Sept. 14.—As the section men on the Vandalia line were starting East from this piace to their work, about 80 clock this morning, they discovered an obstruction on the track about a half-mile east of the depot. The obstruction was evidently pigced there with the intention of wrecking the fast mail train, No. 20, of the Vandalia Line and would doubtless have been successful but for the timely discovery. The men saw a boy about 14 years old running away and one of them went in pursuit, but the boy ran down a ravine and escaped. He, however, was recognized as a son of a respected farmer, who resides just Southeast of here, and a warrant was sworn out for his arrest. No reason why the boy should want to wreck the train is known, but it is supposed he had been reading of the recent train robberies, and, thinking the field a successful one, would do likewise.

A BLAZING SUN'S RAYS AND HOT WINDS BLOWING.

uch Distress Through Lack of Water and Proper Shelter Both by Day and Night - Hottest Weather in Many Years - Riotous Talk Indulged In-Gossip.

ARRANSAS CIFY, Kan., Sept. 14.-The se arrays of the conditions that obtained yearerday, causing the thousands of homeseekers so much suffering, are present to-day. The sun is pouring down a blazing heat, the hot wind continues, and the lack of water and shelter at the registration booths to-day is causing increased sickness and prostration.
At noon yesterday a hot wind sprung up.
Yesterday was the hottest day in this part of the country for many years. In the shade, away from the wind, the thermometer reg-istered 103. The suffering in the line yesterday was so intense and the registration pro-ceeded so slowly that a good deal of riotous falk was indulged in by boomers in town and

Dr. Gallagher, who has charge of the registration, engaged six more clerks this mora-ing. Men were in line this morning who have been in line, since Monday evening, and they are literally exhausted. Hundrels of men in the line are afflicted with a throat and ung disorder caused by breathing the dust-aden air, and many have been obliged to drop out and come in town for ald

"In the name of the papers we we respectfully request you to take steps to alleviate the sufferings of the h eexers who are seeking registration at h No. 9, near this city. The booth is situated on a dusty road, four miles away from water and shelter. The weather is extremely hot and hot winds are blowing a gale. The suf-fering is great, a large number of the homeseekers have been stricken down and some have died. Registration is progressing so slowly that thousands of men are com-pelled to stand in line for days exposed to the sun, dust and thirst. Can you not cause the booth to be removed to this city and put on a larger force of clerks, or abandon registration. For the honor and welfare of the Administration, we beg you to take immediate action. Buinantly demands it."

This was signed by twenty correspondents of the leading Democratic and Republican papers.

Last night the Willow Springs town held an election of officers in the City Hall here. This is the first town in the strip it organize in this manner, and on batter than the people get uters the town was been conganized and ready to do business as such. All of the business men who are going to open stores and banks and all purchasers of residence lots were present. The executive officer will be called President.

Bushyhead placed his town of Kildare on the market last night and sold his first business lot for $450. The Cherokees will commence to advertise largely from now on and expect to have a large permanent population established in their eighth town by Saturday night. This system of building towns in a new country is entirely new and will do away with the rushing, fighting and contesting which characterized the establishing of new towns in Oklahoma.

Reports from the booth are to the effect that several strippers were prostrate during the night.

that several strippers were prostrate during the night. Some of them are at farm-houses near the booth, and physicians went out this morning to care for them. Last night the Santa Fe train arrived several hours late and in five sections. Every section was crowded with passengers and nearly, all stopped off here. At 10 o'clock hundreds of men were scouring the town looking for lodgings. A larger number of men than ever were compelled to sleep on men than ever were compelled to sleep on the streets.

This morning crowded trains came in over all lines. It is no exaggeration to state that fully 40,000 strangers are within and about town and at the present rate of progression fully one-third will not be able to register, and through no fault of their own. The crowd at the booth is reported to be larger this morning than it has ever been. As the day progresses the wind becomes hotter and bids fair to rival that of yesterday.

ORLANDO, O. T., Sept. 14.—Up to last night 8,700 certificates had been issued to Cherokee Strip home-seekers here. There were then Strip home-seekers here. There were then 8,700 persons in line and over 5,000 waiting near the booths, with fully 7,000 people coming. The intense heat and bed water have caused an epidemic of dysentery and many are seriously ill. Special Agent Swineford estimates that 125,000 people will enter the Strip Saturday noon, but others declare the number will certainly be 200,000. Many boomers have arranged to have barrels of water sent to their claims to be used until they can dig wells. Thousands are in line at Stillwater, but there is no suffering there as there is plenty of water.

The new High School is also overcrowded. The members of the board are, however, considering a plan to relieve the crowded condition of the class rooms. The basement will probably be plastered and floored and divided into several class rooms, instead of using it as a calisthenic room, as intended by frof. Soldan. There is also complaint about the scarcity of hydrants in this school. There is only one in the basement, but it has already been decided to place six drinking fountains in the building, two on each door, and to furnish cups for the pupils to drick out of.

It is probable that when Sapt. Long makes his report to the board on the present condition of the schools, he will recommend the erection of several new buildings for echool purposes. A site near the Shepherd School in Carondelet is being bought in order to arect a school to relieve the Shepherd and Gardeld.

Just prior to the organization of the convention Rev. Dr. Prail, rector of St. John's Church, welcomed the delegates on behalf of the State of Michigan, and Hon. Wm. C. The petitioner charges that on or about the date mentioned the partnership of Levy Bros. & Co. was insolvent or in contemplation of insolvency, and yet the members thereof made large purchases of plaintiffs and other merchants to a sum estimated as large as $800,000, and that the partnership about that time, for the purpose of defrauding its creditors, made conveyances of the assets of the firm and secreted the same to their own use by sending the proceeds of such sales outside the United States where no process of courts could reach them; and then, with the intent of preventing the remaining assets of said firm from an equal distribution among the creditors, they, it is charged, made a ficti-tious and fraudulent assignment of the claims of said partnership against debtors in Missouri to defendant, Nathan May of New York; and among the par-

This proposition was accepted, and the strikers were told to come up and turn in their names, and whenever they were needed they would be called for. A colored man about 40 years of age, mounted on a tired-looking pony, rode in at the gateway of the farm owned by Jerome Stansbury and asked for something to eat. The peculiar appearance of the man aroused Mr. Stansbury's suspicions. The negro explained that he had ridden ahead of four companions and that they would be along in a few minutes. Stansbury sent his daughter Lizzle, aged 10, out the back way through the corn-field into the town to tell Marshal Hardson to come with a posse of men as quickly as possible. Marshal Hardison succeeded in gathering twelve young men and started for Stansbury's. The chase was useless. Mrs. Bartley charged her husband with beating her, in her testimony this morning, but Judge Paxson, after listening to the evidence, discharged both. It was a family fight and the testimony did not show which of the pair started the trouble. Michael Dowling was fined $15 and costs for beating his wife last night. Mrs. Dowling persuaded the court to remit the fine after Michael promised to conduct himself properly in the future. Tony McNally was fined the same amount and costs for disturbing the peace of his wife, who is suing for a divorce. Mrs. McNally has not lived with Tony for two months past.

LOWER GRADES NOST AFFECTED.

The pupils of the lower grades are giving the most trouble, and in many instances they are obliged to sit out in hails and recitation rooms and in fact in all available space. They are at work but they cannot proceed as rapidly as though in class rooms. The number of classes in each room in the lower grades has been increased three, in order to get as many schools as possible into each room.

The Riddick, Garfield, Irving, Arlington and Dozier Schools have additions in the course of erection, but it will be some time before they will be ready foreccupancy. It is believed that the surplus of scholars in these schools as well as the Oote Brilliante will have to be accommodated in rented rooms in the neighborhood.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 14.—There seems to be no sort of goubt that Col. William C. P. Breckinridge will have opposition in his race for Congressman from the Ashland dis-trict. When it was authoritively announced that the Colonel had decided to run it was then believed that no one would make the race against him, but since the filing of Miss Pollard's suit at least one of the aspirants for the Colonel's place is said to be on the point of announcing himself. A close friend of Charles J. Bronston of this city says that gentleman will undoubtedly make the race unless Col. Breckinridge's answer to Bliss Follard's suit is perfectly satisfactory to his friends. Mr. Bronston was slated for the District Attorneyship of Kentucky, but yesterday wrote a letter positively declining the place.

Young Bachman was seen by a Post-Bis-Parch reporter in jail this morning. He claims to be only is years old, but looks older. He is a fine looking young fellow, tail and with a frank, open countenance. He made the following statement in an open manner, without any hesitation:

"It is all wrong about my spending the money on a woman. She is entirely innocent of any wrong in the matter. I spent the money mostly in gambling. About three-fourths of it was spent playing races in East St. Louis and at the South Side, and the remainder went for drink. I committed the forgeries when I was drinking. I was on a spree for two months, and did it then. I would not have done it when I was sober. When I needed money I would make out a check, and when that was gone would make out another. I have known the woman for about anyear, and spent a few dollars on her, but it was a comparatively small amount. She was not the cause of my ruin.

"I have no hesitation in stating the facts, for I am ruined for life. I regret the disgrace it has brought on my family, as I am well connected and have a good education. My father was John M. Bachman, and he was well known in brewery circles. He was for years, and I regret the disgrace which I have brought on his name, even though he is dead. My mother lives at 2849 South Thirteenth street; she has not been to see me yet, but I think she will come. About three months ago I left home and went to board down town. In fact my mother told me that I would either have to quit drinking and coming homedrunk and bothering her or leave the house. I don't think I would have gotten into this trouble, if I had staid home.

"I have always drank since I was a boy moderately. I would either have to quit drinking and coming homedrunk and bothering her or leave the medicine for it, but it would come back on me in about three weeks. My mything about my brothers and sisters, for I do not want to little State, has issued a proclamation calling sake. I have a sister younger than I am and I don't want to disgrace her more than I have already done."

DENTISTS AS JURORS.

A Temporary Order Issued Exempting

Spencer in behalf of the St. Louis dentists. After hearing the argument the court instructed the Jury Commissioner to suspend from the list of the argument the court instructed the Jury Commissioner to suspend from the list of jurors recently drawn, all persons following the occupation of dentist, until further order of the court.

This order of the court in the outcome of a suit brought two years ago by a St. Louis dentist who refused to serve on a jury. Previous to three years ago dentists were exempt from jury service, but about this time jury Commissioner Mansfield took occasion to place on the jury list several dentists, among them Dr. Adam Flickinger. Dr. Flickinger presented himself to judge Fisher, asking that he be excused, arguing that he was a practicing physician, and as the law clearly specified that no man who is actively exercising the functions of a practitioner of medicine should be required to serve on a jury, he was of the opinion that he could not be made to serve. While Judge Fisher may have reasoned the same way, he could not excuse the dentist on account of a previous ruling of the court in general term. Mr. Selden F. Spencer was brought into the case by the St. Louis dentists, who appealed to the Supreme Court on a writ of mandamus. About a year ago Division No. 1 of the Supreme Court on a writ of mandamus. About a year ago Division No. 1 of the Supreme Court nanded down a decision releasing Dr. Flickinger, holding that a dentist was a practicing physician and consequently, according to law, was exempt from jury service. As Judge Barclay dissented in the opinion, the case was taken to the court in bane, where it is now pending. Inasmuch as Division No. 1 ruled that a dentist was a practicing physician, and the Jury Commissioner has made up his jury, Attorney Spencer had a hearing before the court in general term this morning, when he cited the circumstances surrounding the case, which resulted in the Court making the order referred to.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, Sept. 14 .-McKinley and thousands of his people came to the Fair to-day and joined in one of the most successful demonstrations yet held by a state. It is estimated that the Ohio contingent numbered over 50,000 people, and these, together with Gov. McKinley's adthese, together with Gov. McKinley's ad-mirers from other parts of the country, swelled the crowd which gathered at the Ohio State Building to enormous proportions. Standing room on the lawn was at a premium. So dense was the crowd that places of vantage were secured by many on the porches of adjacent State buildings. Every preparation had been made and the exercises were carried out without change of pro-

The Governor, mounted on a charger and accompanied by his staff, rode at the head of the militia. State officials, the commissioners and other Ohio folk followed in carriages. At the head of the procession was the 14th Regiment Band. The line of march was south to the Administration Building, and thence north to the Ohio Building. Here the militia drew up in line and the speakers and officials passed through to the speakers' stand. After the 14th Regiment Band had played, Rev.

David Swing offered prayer.

W. W. Peabody, President of the State Board, was the first speaker, and he wel-comed the Ohio people to the day's festivities in fitting words. Gov. McKinley then made one of his characteristic bright speeches.

OHIO MONUMENT DEDICATED. There is a monument standing on the lawn of the Ohio grounds grouped around with itlustrious sons of the State. This monument was dedicated by Gen. R. Brinkerhoff of Mansfield, O., who was the next speaker. He paid a gallant tribute to the heroes who first saw light in the Buckeye State. His speech was a masterly effort. Addresses were also made by Judge Samuel F. Hunt of Cincinnati and Judge L. D. Thoman, President of the Ohio Societies of Chicago.

At the conclusion of the interesting ex-ercises a general reception was given Gov. McKinley, who stood in the main parlor of the State building, surrounded by his staff and members of the commission. Thousands esleged the building, anxious to shake hands with him.

Ex-Gov. Ireland of Texas, Chairman of the convention, called P. D. Maxon to the chair and spoke against the adoption of the resolution. He said that to advise the State ownership of railways was a dangerous precedent to establish, because it conferred powers on the Government which could only produce a nefarious system of patronage and that it would in a measure clash with the existing governmental arrangement. The resolutions were, however, adopted, Ex-Gov. Ireland and Judge Brown of Texas then retired from the convention. It was decided to send delegates from the convention to the Pan-American Congress, which will be held in St. Louis next month.

done, considerable relief is expected to be given the street laborers who have been so long idle.

The numerous new ordinances which will be introduced at the session can hardly be expected to prove of any immediate benefit, as contracts under them are not likely to be approved before the regular November session of the Council.

The discussion of the Council.

The discussion of the report of the City Hall Commission and the ordinance to fix the limit of cost at $2,000,000 will prove a very interesting theme. The majority of the Council are in favor of the $2,000.000 limit, but there is a certain element in the House of Delegates, who are inclined to believe that the new building has cost too much already, and do not favor any more heavy appropriations.

At is difficult to see how this position can be maintained, when the comaprative cost of city halls in other large cities is considered.

The present building has cost only 29 3-10 cents per cubic foot.

As Mayor Walbridge expressed himself at the meeting of the Commission yesterday, he did not think it was ever the intention of the Assembly that the new City Hall should cost only $1,000,000 complete. It was intended that that amount should be spent for the building proper and was not to include the interior decorating, finishing and thorough equipment of the various city offices. The great problem the Assembly will he to tackle in this connection, however, is where and how to raise the money within a reasonable time. There are other improvements which are heeded as badly as a new City Hall and the municipal revenue cannot be drawn upon as heavily in the future as it has in the past for this purpose. It is hoped, however, some solution will be reached.

Mr. Charles Green's little bill for $12,000 for expenses and commissions in connection with the sale of the old City Hall is also liable to raise a small row.

Taken all in all the session promises to be an interesting one.

STILL HAVE HOPES.

Commissioner Reid's Lawyers Make New Discovery.

REID CHARGES THAT THERE IS A COL-LUSION TO DO HIM UP.

He Claims That Chief Sanitary Inspector Francis Made His Report on the City Hospital Surgical Ward for That Purpose-Francis Enters a Denial-City

Mr. W. B. Thompson, one of the attorneys for Building Commissioner Reid, said this rning that he had discovered a decision of the State Supreme Court which, in his opin on, covers the Reid case, and will have the effect of again turning the tide in his favor. Mr. Thompson still maintains that the Sedalia case is one particularly applicable to the charter of that city and is he refers to is one which was given in a case that went up to the Supreme Court from St. Louis County and involved the question of conflict between the general statutes and the city charter. The Court held in that case that the charter must give way to the general statutes and Mr. Thompson is confident of scoring a point n October. Commissioner Reid is somewhat worked up over the report of Chief Sanitary Officer Francis on the new surgical ward at the City

"There is no more reason why the building should be shouldered on me,' aid Mr. Reid, "than there would be to blame me for a dozen broken window panes. "After the plastering was finished in the ward a select and thoroughly dry maple floor was laid and driven up close and tight. The sleepers were grouted between with Louis-ville cement and cinders and remained so for ville cement and cinders and remained so for a month prior to the floor being laid."

"What caused it to warp?"

"Dr. Marks, Superintendent of the hospital, knows well what caused it. Some of his employes went in there with a hose and brooms and flooded it with water, thoroughly saturating the boards, which caused them to buckle and draw the nails from the sleepers. The floor was driven back as well as it could be done, but it is ruined now and can never be placed in its original condition. The plastering is all right and will speak for itself." self. Mr. Reid thinks Mr. Francis was sent there by the Mayor for a purpose which he has carried out.

Mr. Reid thinks Mr. Francis was sent there by the Mayor for a purpose which he has carried out.

Mr. Francis when seen denied most emphatically that he had been sent to the hospital by the Mayor. "Mayor Waibridge never spoke to me about the matter," he said, "I went to the hospital that day on other business, and while there chanced to go over to the surgical ward to see Dr. Marks. After moticing the condition of the floors and plastering I asked him if he were going to prepare to receive patients there. He replied that he had nothing else to do as there was no money to remedy the defects. I told him the ward was not in condition to receive patients and that I would notify the Mayor and the Board of Charity Commissioners to that effect and see if something could not be done. I have no war to make on Mr. Reid or any one else, but I will say that the man who planned the building and the contractor who built it ought to be ashamed of themselves. It is an outrage. The granitoid floor in the operating-room is cracked and will gather the dripplings from the operating-table which is bound to make the room unhealt hy and dangerous. The enameled brick around the side of the wails is not complete, there being spaces where there is nothing but ordinary plaster, which cannot be washed. Any medical man cannot but condemn the place for the purpose for which it was erected." Two days ago 'the Mayor, Comptroller, Park Commissioner Fechter and zier, who was recently indicted nere, has been arrested in San Jose, Costa Rica. Weeks e disappeared from New York in May last, shortly after the announcement of his failure. He cut quite a figure in New York for years. He was a member of the Union, Metropolitan, Century, Players', University, Down Town and New York Yacht and Seawanhaka Yacht Clubs. Of the last club he was vice-commodore and owned the schooner Montauk.

CAUGHT IN COSTA RICA.

New York, Sept. 14.—News was received to-day that Francis H. Weeks, the embezzler, who was recently indicted here, has been arrested in San Jose, Costa Rica.

He bame to grief through his investments in West Superior, Wis., and on Wall street. He induced manufacturers to put up plants at West Superior and invested there heavily bimself, and as President of the Land and Improvement Co. did much to make that town. His management did not suit the other stockholders, who, on April 29, elected a new Board of Directors. Two days later Mr. Weeks assigned. Then came stories of crookedness in the management of his office. The investigations brought to light the most fearful complications, and indicated that not half the story had been told. When Weeks assigned it was announced that his assets were almost $400,000. Developments changed all that.

The worst part of the business, it is said, will be found in the way Mr. Weeks handled the many trust estates of which he had charge. What has become of the money no one can say.

BEFORE agreeing to sell out the Mullanphy real property, as some rash reformers advise, let us be sure that it will not be a "sell out" in all senses. Late transactions in public property do not sustain the wisdom of the policy of selling real estate held by the city for a public purpose. In early every case the city has lost by the ransaction.

Two MARRIED lady teachers have been reinstated in the public schools because the board found that their services were needed. No greater condemnation could be pronounced against the rule excluding married teachers than this action of the board. The board writes itself down an ass by retaining such a rule and disregarding it in practice.

COMBINE ACTIVITY.

Despite the recent collapse of trust securities and the exposure of trust swindling, the activity of the promoters of combines is increasing rather than diminishing. The old trusts are enlarging their scope, and new trusts with thinly-velled deference to public opinion are being organized under various names. But whether operating under "consolidation" or the so-called modus vivendi, the object is the same-to gouge and defraud the people. The cause of this activity is not far to seek. As long as swindling and gouging combinations can be formed without fear of interference by law officers or of punishment under the law they will be formed. The trust promoters know the value of a friend in court, and at present they have good reason to believe they are absolutely safe from prosecution.

Mr. Cleveland's Attorney-General, who is harged with the enforcement of the antitrust law, was a trust attorney before his appointment, and in that capacity vigor- der republican government is not due to a was unconstitutional. So under the encouraging indifference of the authorities unlawful combinations increase and trust rascality flourishes The people are left unprotected from the designs of unscrupulous and greedy looters. But when this form of lawless greed culminates again in great wrongs and scandals the people will know at whose door to lay the responsibility.

RETURN OF IMMIGRANTS.

One of the incidents of the recent de pression is the return of large numbers of immigrants to their native lands. They do not see in America the opportunities they hoped for and have wisely concluded that poverty is more easily borne at home than among strangers.

Had these people possessed the steady characteristics of the immigrant who came to us before the '70s they would have found plenty of opportunities to work their way into comfort and independence. But unhappily the conditions are bough the salary is being drawn by totally different. In former decades when the journey over the seas was a hard one and not to be lightly undertaken, only the more vigorous of the people dared to abandon their homes and settle in a new country. The task before them was such that only the intelligent and capable were willing to grapple with it. Consequently the American character has been enriched by some of the best from other lands.

But the latter day immigrant is often a totally different sort of individual. Improved means of communication have made it an easy matter to pass from one country to another. The voyage is robbed of half its terrors and the future in the new country is painted in glowing colors by the agents of steamships and the representatives of monopolists anxious to "conserve the interests of capital" by a large surplus of labor. Then we got the best of European blood. Now we get a large infusion of the worst. And its presence here has been the read. At any rate we shall be rid of many undesirable individuals, which is no small gain, when we consider the in-fluence of the Emma Goldmans and Mosts.

MR. WELLS' PROPOSAL

Carlisle, Mr. David A. Wells, ex-Commissioner of Internal Revenue and a practice as well as scholarly economist, submits a plan to increase the revenue without adding materially to the burdens of the people or putting any more obstacles in the way of production.

After a careful study he finds that the revenue can be increased from $181,000,000 o $245,000,000 by a small addition to the rates on tobacco and fermented liquors manufactured in this country, and by reducing the customs duties on spirits and tobacco, thereby inviting increased imports.

There is no doubt that the internal reve nue system has never been appreciated in this country as it has been in England where a few taxes of this kind make up the bulk of the national income and do not bear heavily upon the people. Internal taxes coupled with a well digested plan for an income tax would afford a basis for a rational and beneficent revenue system in this country which would do away with all the restrictions on trade and place the burden where it could be borne without discomfort.

REPUBLICANISM IN DISGRACE.

Brazil has presented a sorry spectacle of republicanism for the jeers of monarchists since she exchanged a mild and liberal king for a series of tyrannous dictators. Torn by internal dissensions, racked by revolution and civil war and with her capital city in danger of being wrecked by contending forces of Brazilians she is a fit object for the finger of monarchical scorn.

Those, however, who find in the experi ence of wretched Brazil an argument against republicanism itself take a superficial and false view of the case. Brazil's history since the overthrow of the monarchy only emphasize the fact repeatedly demonstrated that capacity for free selfgovernment comes by growth, not sudden conversion. It is accomplished not by revolution alone, but by a process of education in which self-restraint and the appreciation of the true aims and methods of overnment play an important part.

The American people worked out the problem of free republican government with comparative ease, because the principle of liberty and the capacity for selfovernment had been nurtured and developed in them before the actual change took place. France, on the other hand, with eager aspiration for liberty, but without training, required nearly a century of experiment and painful struggle to attain the capacity for its enjoyment. The experiences of all of the South and Central American republics illustrate this truth to a greater or less degree. Under the forms of liberty they suffer the ills of tyranny and continued revolution.

The failure of Brazil and her sister republics to attain peace and happiness unure of the people to make proper use of it. But their situation is not hopeless. That they are struggling is an indication of growth. They are learning from fail ure how to win success. The education of the people is constantly going on. The better elements will gradually concentrate for good government and sound methods and they will find leaders who will work out their will with patriotic loyalty.

In repeating the sentiment of 1865, "The only debt this country can never pay is the debt it owes to the brave men who saved the nation," Gov. McKinley betrayed a singular misunderstanding of its neaning. Had anyone told the veterans at that time that their services were to be paid for in dollars and cents-conditioned on their voting right-he would have been promptly rebuked as one whose imagination could not compass the idea of patriotism. The debt is one of gratitude and can never be discharged. The cheap politicians who are trying to discharge it in cold cash insult every man who suffered for patriot ism without a thought of pecuniary reward.

THE WORLD well says that "in the nancial issue compromise is but another word for cowardice." Compromise is just what the silver Senators are trying to force from the timidity of the repeal men. But it should not be forgotten that a compromise would not be a step towards the final solution of the question. It would be just one more obstacle in the way of settlement. When the Sherman folly is out of the way we can take our reckoning and prepare for constructive legislation designed to put an end forever to the vexatious and dangerous problem.

MR. MILIS can make a very good speech on the silver question, but he will do better by postponing it until after repeal. Then his contribution will be very useful in aid of the necessary constructive legislation, which is to reform the whole currency system.

MR. HITCHOOCK told the Ways and Means Committee that in ten years the price of plate-glass in this country had been reduced one-half without the reduction of the wages of plate-glass workers. Why then does the plate-glass industry need protection? A manufacturing industry as healthy as this should be able to stand on its own legs.

Thirty Years of High Taxes

Frem the New York WORLD.

EX-Speaker Reed reminds the country that high and still higher protection has prevailed Yes, and during this time the United States have experienced some of the worst financial panics ever known in the history of the business world.

They have known more and longer periods of business depression than in any other equal period in their history. Wages have fluctuated as much as in any ther nation in the world.

There have been more numerous, extensive and disastrous strikes and lockouts than in any other country. During these thirty years the Republican party has made ten tariff revisions and indulged a bundred times in separate "tariffnkering" bills-always, with one exception, revising the schedules upward and in the interest of the monopolies that paid its campaign expenses. And yet now that the revision downward demanded by the people is soon to be made, they set up the cry that business demands certainties;" hanges are an evil."

The country has on the whole prospered wonderfully, in spite of the taxes, just as it has prospered in spite of untimely frosts, in spite of droughts, floods, cyclones and pestilence. But it will prosper more abundantly with the shackles stricken from its com-merce and burdensome taxes removed from the necessaries of the people.

Due to the Protective System

From the Detreit Free Press.
From all over the country comes the cry that harvest hands are scarce. In many alled upon to help gather the crops because able-bodied laboring men were not to be had. This is a state of affairs which should not exist when there are so many working-men idle. Instead of the distribution of labor which should exist in a country of our vast extent and varied resources, this class of population is largely congested in our great cities and manufacturing centers. It is among the evils fostered by a protective which attracts capital to the field here it is favored, starts the enterprises which employ laber, stimulates production beyond the demands of consumption and, when orders cease to come in, throws hun dreds and thousands out of employment.

into the condition of private premises? The idea of a great city like ours having the air of a vast country villaged. Yacant lots, streets lying a little out of the common track, are breast high with weeds, growing in riotous profusion, emitting noxious vapors. At night, after the sun has drawn all poisonous properties to the surface, the air is full of poison, breeding, no doubt, the microbes which create malarial typhoid fevers, diphtheria, which at this season and during the autumn are so provalent.

Why should vacant lots be the receptacle of waste baskets, old shoes, rags; in fact, all kinds of refuse of the sursounding neighborhood? Ashes—everything which is nasty—can be dumped with impunity into the hollows and guilles to fill up the vacant lots—tail weeds concealing the horrible stuff and aading to the awful odors. Festering under the burning rays of the sun—what wonder this mass swelters into life?

The gases arising from this decaying matter are indescribably dreadful. There should be a law against using vacant property as cesspools. Ashes should be especially prohibited. The gases arising from ashes after a rain are rank poison. The city of ficials should put a stop to this thing.

The idea of not being able to drive out of a city of this size without going through jungles of weeds higher than a man's head! Acres of ground covered with all kinds of weeds—jimson, the poisonous beliadonna, one of the most prolific of weeds, grows in luxuriant quantities, adding poison by the wholesale, At the end of Washington avenue leading into King's highway is a forest of wrends. It fairly takes one's breath to drive there, late in the evening the air is rank with weeds. All along Union avenue, one of our handsomest thoroughfares, weeds flourish like the green bay tree—all along the Suburban electric road. May, the back drive there, late in the evening the air is rank with weeds. All along Union avenue, one of our handsomest thoroughfares, weeds flourish like the green bay tree—all along the suburban electric road. Nay, the back premises of most of the houses are masses of refuse piled just outside the back gates, to go through all the stages of putrefaction, fill the nostrils of the traveler, and breed sickness. There is another great nuisance, viz. a factory or furnace in the southern part of the city devoted to burning the bones of dead animals, which should be moved by all manner of means. On a hot summer night the air is fetlid with the dreadful smell of these scorching bones wafted to the unfortunate people on this side by once delicious southern breezes. This cannot be a thing conducive to health or comfort. Every citizen has a right to demand the cessation of this awful nuisance. We can't drive away the mosquitoes or the heat, can do nothing it seems to allay the dust or lower the thermometer when old sol chooses to raise it, but we can have cleanliness, which is said to be next to godiliness by a most wise prophet. Oh, let us be clean, weedless, ashless—make a tax on property holders, enforce the law and give our city a chance. ess—make a tax on property holders, en-orce the law and give our city a chance.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: In regard to the Ferris Wheel, about which o much has been said and written, and which, according to the inclosed clipping taken from your Sunday edition, he claim was the inspiration of a moment, I wish to say, that without detracting from the mechanical execution of the work, there is no novelty in the idea, although there may have been to Mr. Ferris. Many of the residents of New York will remember that thirty or thirty-two years ago there was the exact counterpart of the Ferris Wheel on Staten Island, at a pleasure resort on a bluff at Stapleton, which was for years frequented by New Yorkers by excursion boats across the bay. On this bluff there were shooting galleries, merry-go-rounds, wine gardens, Stapleton, which was for years frequented by New Yorkers by excursion boats across the bay. On this bluff there were shooting galleries, merry-go-rounds, wine gardens, etc., and one or two seasons a wheel in all respects, except the fine mechanical execution and greater size, the exact counterpart of the Ferris Wheel, and I rode in one of the boxes swang and elevated in every respect the same. It was rather a crude affair compared to Mr. Ferris' magnificent piece of work. My recollection is the wheel was about 75 feet, possibly 100 feet in diameter, and there were about twelve or affect cars. Heavy weights used as balance weights were placed in the boxes not used, and when occupied by passengers were taken out as those in ours were when we got in. A couple of men operated a crank at the base and turned the wheel while the cars or boxes slowly rose and were carried aloft, and around and back to the starting point. The space between the double wheel was only about 8c ill feet. These facts can be substantiated upon a little inquiry. In view of all this Mr. Ferris' claim to novelty and originality must fail.

from work, in order to fill up with the doings of the outside world, I have frequently visited the newspaper room in the Education building on Locust street. To reach this room a climb of thirty steps is necessary, and by the time it is reached most individuals are ready to sit and rest. In this, however, disappointment will be encountered by the wayfarer unless he be satisfied to squat upon the floor, tailor fashion.

The papers are arranged in high racks, and to reach them you necessarily stand, as not a bench, stool or chair is to be fought in the room. I need not inform you how tiresome it is to stand in one position and digest newspaper literature. The civilized arrangements of the present day (outside of this place) do not contemplate such a thing. Again, this room is public property in which all taxpayers are interested, as they contribute thereto, hence is it right that those visiting it should be compelled to tramp up thirty steps whilst the elevators stand idle and whose open doors you have to pass? And the management, as if to be impudently ironical, have posted an elaborate sign opposite the elevator doors intimating that the reading-room was reached by climbling, as if there was any other way thither, the elevators belag closed, unless those seeking it flow up through the front windows. those seeking it new windows.

Dilapidated Main Street.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: In passing up Main street this morning The degree of LL. D. has been conferred on was delighted to see the improvement in the shape of a coat of paint made by that live and energetic business man, Mr. Luddington and energetic business man, Mr. Luddington of the firm of H. & L. Chase, which is a credit to the street, and I trust as an old citizen that ail other merchants and property owners on the street will follow his example and take a little pride in the adornment and advancement of our once noble street and the pride of our city. All bonor to my old friend Mr. Luddington for setting such a noble example to the balance of our Main street merchants in the days of our carnivals and festivities, Main street at present is in a dilapidated candition for our country cousins and strangers coming here to behold.

Iron-Clad Messengers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: It appears to me that the best means of protecting express cars lies in the power on the part of those in charge to shoot. Now, if the night messenger had bullet proof armor to put on he would thus have a chance to use his pistel, and when the command "hold up your hands" would be given his reply could be by firing without risk to himself. Let him shoot to kill a few times and the bravado of these fellows would weaken. This suit might be uncomfortable for the messenger, but he need not wear it all the time, and something must be done. The expense would be light.

IN A LONG HONEYMOON.

Nelly and I had been married six months,

My wife gently pulled the missive from my nds and opened it. There was a great deal in a few words:

packing away into my portmanteau all the little necessaries that I, for my part, would have forgotten in the hurry of the moment. It was a perfectly lovely summer morning. Passing into the garden Nellie picked a bunch of roseate pinks and a sprig of oakleaf geranium running back to me and pinning them in my coat and saying with a smile that they would remind me of her.
"I will go down the river bank and see you pass by," said Nellie, as I kissed her goodby. "Be sure and wave your handkerehief. Write the very minute you arrive, Goodby, dear."

I hurried away, turning every now and then to wave my hand to the slight, girlish figure on the bridge.

I had but a few minutes to wait for the train. As it pulled up at the station I en-tered a compartment, the only other occu-pant of which was a gentleman, a tail young man, with sunburnt face and dark eyes.

Very soon we came within sight of the river, and there, on the little bridge stood my wife, her light musin dress moving in the breeze, and her face turned anxiously to-wards the approaching train.

"I wish she would not stand on that rickety plank," I said to myself, and even as the thought rose to my mind she staggered, clutched at the rotten handbar and lost her balance and fell over into the deep, swift waters below.

"Are you mad?" said the stranger, who stood over me.

A minute had now gone by and the river was out of sight. I did not answer. I simply lay where I had been thrown. I closed my eyes, and I felt sick and giddy and Isint. Then I gasped for breath, and seemed to be choking. I saw again the poor white face as it went down under the cruel waters. I found myself clasped in her arms, the waters were warm and sparkling and delicious, a little boat of coral formed beneath us shaped like a huge shell and drawn by the trout we had seen from the bridge.

The banks of the stream opened wider and wider, and everything that grew on them was of gold and sliver, studded with prectous stones, and the air was baimy and cool and fall of richly plumaged birds that circled overhead, while the sun glistened on the gems that decked my Nelly's hair, and we went on and on—

The train was still rushing along as I opened my eyes and found the young stranger forcing the mouth of a brandy flask between my lips. He locked on me in pity.

"Nelly, Nelly!" I gasped as the painful truth came back in force. Throwing my feet of the cushion I sat up, then tried to rise and go to the window.

It was only just 10 o'clock. To wait for that train meant four hours of fearful agony that train meant four hours of fearful agony that could not be endured, four hours given to thoughts that would drive me mad and send me home a hopeless idiot.

"Can I drive?" I asked. "Is there no conveyance about the place that could take me back? Is there no train of any description before that time?"

I spoke webemently. The little cluster of passengers looked ap in amazement.

"There'll be a cattle train due in an hour or thereabouts, sir. Maybe ye'll get a ride on the engine."

In the relief of mind this intelligence afforded me I put a dollar into the grimy paim of the old porter, who, among the many blessings showered upon me, included one upon my wife, if, as he said, I had one.

Heavens, if I had one! What pangs of agony went through me at those words!

Ah, then, how I gave the reins to my steeds of thought!

How I let them tear along and madden me with their caprices! How I allowed them to draw picture after picture of my poor girl across the stage of my mind, pausing at each one that I might stamp every detail of all that was sad and wretched of my soul.

Did a Thriving Business in Disposing of Helpless Babes Who Were a Source of Reproach or Annoyance to Those Who Begot Them-Five Florins Per Murder

VIENNA, Sept. 14.—A sonsation has been caused in this city by the arrest of two women, living in separate villages, in the district of Kuttenburg, Bohemia, which recalls the terrible tragedies enacted last year and in a similarly horrible style. The two women, it seems, were engaged systematically in the business of murdering children whose parents desired to have them got out of the way, either because of defamilies or because the parents were too poor or too heartless to take care of their children, or because the children were illegitimate and a source of reproach to their parents. These heartless women, it is added, not only did a thriving trade in murdering helpless bables, but also contracted to dispose of their bodies most effectually and guaranteed secrecy and effectually and guaranteed secrecy and fectual disappearance for stated sums of The price usually charged for the r of a child was 5 florins. State's Attorney Kern, Inspector Schaik and Capt. Schuettler were in conference the greater part of yesterday going over the records in the case. The outlook was not encouraging, to say the least, and the three officers were by no means confident of winning out the fight to come. The case will be called for trial in another week or ten days.

The Pace of Improvement in Prices and CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 14 .- So slow is the pace of improvement in iron that a week counts for little. It can be said that no set-back has come to the tendency towards better things heretofore noted, but at the present rate it will certainly be a long time before the old volume of business comes back. Here and there a better run of small orders Here and there a better run of small orders is reported, but with every such statement there is the qualification that buyers are feeling their way and waiting. In the principal raw iron markets there has been larger movement than for several weeks preceding, but prices are as before. The active blast furnaces Sept. I numbered 132, with a weekly capacity of 85,510 tons, against 169 active Aug. 1, with a capacity of 107,402 tons. This means that the production of pig iron at the beginning of this month was at the rate of 4,500,000 tons a year, or about half as much as was produced in 1892.

All the electric and gas effects will be seen to best advantage, and some surprises will be in order on the bulletin board on Twelfth street. The simple manner in which the changes on this board are produced attracts general interest from experts, who expect to find careful insulation and other precautions, but who find nothing of the kind. The incandescent lights are arranged in parallel lines, and the only difficulty in writing sentences is in the production of curves. Doctors are surprised at any cure of paralysis, but there is one form of paralysis which has been pronounced absolutely incurable-locomotor ataxia. This is indeed the most serious and dreaded of all nervous difficulties.

Having so long pronounced this disease incurable the astonishment, not to say amazement, of the doctors can be imagned when they learned from Mr. John H. Golding, who resides at 166 Christopher street, New York City, the following wonderful facts:

"I was taken six months ago with locomotor ataxia or creeping paralysis. The numbness of limbs and dizziness rapidly Increased until I could not walk nor stand without assistance, could not button my clothes or dress myself without help.

"On the 6th day of October I commenced taking Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and have taken four bottles and can now walk without a cane and am rapidly gaining every day.

A WOMAN'S WAY. Story Revealed by Charges Against Mrs.

What Landlady Ketchum Has to Say Nellie Spreel of Buffalo. BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Assault, kidnap ing and bigamy are the charges filed against Mrs. Nellie Spreel, and the story behin hem is this:

A little more than twelve years ago John and George Spreel were suitors for the hand of pretty Nellie Williams, whose father was proprietor of a big wholesale spice store here. She became engaged to George, but here, She became engaged to George, but for some reason they were not married. John then married the girl, and for five years they lived together happily. In the meantime George went West to seek his fortune. Six years ago this month he returned to Budalo worth about $40,000, went into a stock company for manufacturing starch, and was a frequent visitor at the home of his brother John and his former sweetheart. The result was that the two fell in love again, and they ran away together.

fell in love again, and they ran away together.

They have since then lived as man and wife in Chicago and other Western cities. A few days ago they returned to Buffalo and took rooms on Miller avenue. Before Mrs. Spreel left her lawful husband she had become the mother of two unusually bright children—a boy and a girl. They have lived with their father and grandmother since the disappearance of their mother. On Sunday night George Spreel and the woman broke into John's house and attempted to steal the children from their beds. John awoke and interfered, but was assaulted by his wife, who grabbed a flatiron and said she would kill him. When he repeated his interference the woman struck him in the temple with the iron and knocked him senseless to the floor. Then she and George carried away the children and both were arrested later.

him by Miss Madaline Pollard.

Col. Breckinnidge had an interview with Miss Hoyt, an elderly maiden lady living with Mrs. Ketchum, who had charge of Miss Pollard during her stay at the Ketchum house. Miss Pollard applied to Mrs. Ketchum for board, saying that she had come to attend sayre Institute. She was given a room. The girl was then about 17 years old, and said she had been attending school in Cincinnati. She had been the bead been the mesk miss Pollard had not known each other up to this time, and she thinks the formality of an introduction between them was dispensed with. After Miss Pollard had been at Mrs. Ketchum's six or eight months report came that instead of going to the institute one day she had driven to Cincinnati in a closed carriage with Col. Breckinridge and had remained away all night. When told of the report she laughed at it and said she had gone there with her uncle, Mr. Oliver, who very much resembled Col. Breckinridge, to visit a child at a Cincinnati institute, whose parents were unknown to the public. No more was thought of the matter, and not until her petition was filed was the Cincinnati escapade remembered by the Ketchum honschold. San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 14.—The Calf fornia Miners' Association has called a meet-ing for Oct. 8 in this city. There is much im-portant business to come up. The Public Service Not Injured by His

At 11 o'clock this morning United States Marshal Frank Buchanan arrived in the city from his home in Ralls County. When questioned concerning the cause of his frequen and prolonged absences he said: "During July and August I have been away from St. Louis a great deal, but the public services was in no way injured by it. At this season there is very little to do as no courts are in session. My chief deputy, Mr. Nait, is known to be one of the most competent men in his position in the country, and he was in charge when I was absent. Had at any time anything requiring my attention arisen, I could have been in the city within a few hours. I had important business to attend to, but was in constant communication with the office, and the public service was in no way injured by my absence."

SHOT AT HIS WIFE.

Michael Meyers Becomes Insanely Jeal ous of His Young Spouse Michael Meyers, a Frenchman, & years old, living at 1311 South Second street, was up before Judge Morris this morning on a charge of discharging firearms, and had his case continued qutil Sept. 21. The offense for which Meyers was really arrested, however, was for shooting at his wife, a woman thirty years his junior. The wife refused to prosecute, and the other charge was placed against him. The pair have been quarreling cute, and the other charge was placed against him. The pair have been quarreling for some time, Meyers accusing the wife of flirting and canning beer with men younger than himself. Last evening about 5 p. m., he returned home a little the worse for liquor and took a shot at the woman as she was leaning over the wash tub. Before he could shoot again the wife ran into another room and locked the door. Officer Sears was called and arrested Meyers, who claimed this morning that he would kill her before long anyway, hirs. Meyers' neighbors say Meyers has no cause for Jealousy, and is simply a craxy old fool with a young wife.

contral High School property, is in the city to-day and has made arrangements for having the old Central High School at Fifteenth and Olive streets, wrecked this fall and foundations put in for the new Marquette Hotel. Several prominent St. Louis architects are now engaged in preparing plans for the new structure, which will be submifted to Mr. Johnson and his associates.

The enterprise is own that promises to be of great benefit to the city in giving it another first-class hotel. It will also be of benefit to Olive street, as it will add a handsome and artistic improvement to the already long list of magnificent structures on that street fast of Seventeenth street The ground on which the Marquette Hotel is to be built is a 99-year leasehold from George and Ed Wolff and Simon Van Raalte. There is a clause in the lease, however, which gives Mr. Johnson and his associates the right to purchase the property at $180,000 within one year, and it is understood that they will take advantage of this option, which does not expire for several months.

The property has a frontage of 150 feet on the north side of Olive street at the corner of Fifteenth and a depth of 109 feet and will make a very suitable hotel site in consequence of its proximity to the business center and the new Union Depot. Its location on high ground gives it another/advantage as a hotel site.

Identified as a Highwayman.

A warrant charging highway robbery was issued to-day against Isaac Bird, who was held as accessory to the killing of Thomas Tierney, who was stabbed and killed last Sunday morning in front of Fred Schaeffer's saloon on Broadway near Mound street, by Dan Bird, a brother of Isaac Bird. James T. Kinney, yard-master of the Missouri Pacing yards, and living at 3115 Rutger street was held up at Seventh street, near Cass avenue, about 9 o'clock last Saturday night and robbed of a watch and $80. He called at the Four Courts to-day and indentified Isaac Bird as the man who robbed him. Detective James Tracy has also recognized Isaac Bird as a man he arrested on July 20, 1887, for burgiariging his (Tracy's) house. Tracy was absent when the burgiary was committed. Bird pleaded guilty and was given three years in the penitentiary. He was released from the penitentiary in 1890.

Commercial Notes. Freezing in Wyoming and burning weather in Kansas. This is a big country.

The bears are fighting any advance in wheat now, but the market is a good deal broader than it was.

The corn crop is short enough without shortening it still more on hot winds and mouth wind.

The hot, dry weather cannel hurs corn any more, but a constant the country of the corn and the control of the country of the co of England has reduced its rate of discount to 4 per cent.

The estimate of the Bulletin des Halles makes the French wheaterop 284, 460,000 bu, a deficit of 27, 400,000 bu from the average of the last ten years. The requirements of France are estimated at 240, 000,000 bu, indicating a shortage this year of about 72,000,000 bu in the supply.

The Cincinnati Price Current: Bain in various western districts helps wheat seeding, which was shaping toward desided curtailment. Corn has been ripening by warm dry weather, and all but a smail portion is practically secure from frost. The crop should be expected to fully equal or moderately exceed last year, but, with old grain, is not likely to furnish a larger supply.

This morning Edward Breeden, colored. was arraigned before United States Com-missioner Crawford, charged with retail-ing liquor without the payment of a special tax. Special Officer Collins swore that on May 6 he entered a gambling room at 621 Locust street and played poker. He asked for drinks and Breeden sold them to him. Breeden was subsequently convicted in the Police Court of selling liquor without a license and fined $50. Chris Schawacker then took the stand on behalf of the accused: behalf of the accused:

"I was playing poker on the occasion to which the officer refers," said he, "and saw the whole transaction. Collins asked New York New Lork N

There was whisty, but that was bought out of the rake-off, and every player was at liberty to help himself, Breeden never sold any."

"You are not teiling the truth," retorted Collins. "I asked for drinks, they were served, and I paid 85 cents for them. Not a word was said about not selling drinks."

"You are not teiling the truth yourself," replied Schawacker Botly. "Your honor, these policemen have been persecuting this man, and it ought to be stopped. To be sure, he was convicted in the police court, but you know that these men have a great deal of influence in that place. They base a lawyer named McGinnis, who volunteered to defend Breeden and have it in for him. What I have stated is the exact truth. He never sold that man Collins a drink of liquor It is not the custom to sell liquor in gambling houses."

An effort was made by the accused to explain the action of the Police Court, but this was checked by the commissioner, who stated that this case had nothing to do with the one on trial. Breeden was held for the Grand-jury in $200 bond, the bond being signed by Schawacher.

THE MORA MILLIONS.

New Pacts in Regard to the Claim Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—A new phase f the famous Mora claim has developed eithin the past week. It now appears that axime Mora, who presents through the nited States Congress a claim against the panish Government for $4,000,000, became a sen solely to protect his estate in Cuba selzure, and that to-day he has little nal interest in the claim, having aspersonal interest in the claim, having assigned most of it to those who are pushing it. Hightly or wrongly, Spain believes firmly that the claim is unjust. Mr. Moret, the spanish Minister who made a provisional agreement to pay Mr. Mora $1,500,000, was riven from office because of that agreement. In a debate in the Cortes the United States Legation was denounced for pressing the claim, and it was charged that Mr. Mora was induced to agree to settle the claim by representations on the part of the claimants that United States Senators were so much interested in it that they would approve a liberal reciprocity treaty with spain if it were paid.

Because of these acquisitions. It has aid.

Because of these acquisitions of the cortes do avoid anything to do with the claim. Mr.

Selmont sent a translation of the Cortes de te to the State Department. In the last ion, it is claimed, was left to some of the daimant's attorneys, who withheld the occument.

As a matter of course, the Spanish officials have long since ascertained that the representations said to have been made to them as to the United States Senate's willingness to trade off a reciprocity treaty for the Mora claim were absolutely baseless.

A Veteran Robbed.

briel Trimpi, an old soldier, who is on is way to the Soldiers' Home at Leavenworth, Kan., from Sulphur Springs, Mo., reported to the police at the Union Depot this morning that he had been robbed of his ticket and $10 yesterday. The old veteran was a member of Co. C. 5th Missouri Infantry, and had been in the Soldiers' Homesince December, 1891, until some months ago when he left and went to work at Sulphur Springs. He was on his way back to the Home to spend the winter there when he was robbed. He had about $17 when he reached St. Louis. He bought a ticket for $6 and then got to drinking, and someone, he stated, went through his pockets and took the ticket and about $10, leaving the old man penniless.

Both Sides Are Losing Money, but Will Fight On While They Have Funds-Track and Stable Gossip - Handicaps for the Pastime Games - Base Ball-General Sporting News. Both the Fair Grounds and East Side tracks have been losing money since the fall meet-ings began to clash. Both parties are willing to acknowledge that they are out of pocket, and the prospects for improvement are not bright. Alex Uliman, President of the East the Fair Grounds meeting, met the other morning, and though they are fight-ing each other in a business way there is no personal hostility between them and they fell to discussing the war. According to Mr. Ullman, he ex-pressed the same willingness to compromise that he did last spring, but Mr. Shaw would that he did last spring, but Mr. Shaw would not entertain any proposition from him. The East Side people were willing the to close up during the forty-eight day's of the Fair Grounds meeting, if the bokey Club would give them the read of the year, but the Jockey Club wanted a fail date and would not make terms. Mr. Shaw stands on the same ground, and told Mr. Ullman that losing money as he was, he would keep up the fight until he knocked would keep up the fight until he knocked East St. Louis out. After the Fair Grounds meeting closes he contemplates securing either Madison or South Side with a foreign book on the Kansas City fall meeting. In this way he will be able to keep up the fight until after the snow files. The probabilities are that some one will go broke before the

GOSSIP FOR TURFITES.

The Kendall Stables' Winter Quarters-

The Fair Grounds Card. Johnny Huffman, "Plunger" Chris Smith's trainer and partner in the ownership of the famous Kendall stable, will winter the horses in his charge at his big stock farm near Greenville, Ill., instead of at Cumberland Park, Nashville, Tenn., where the stable spent the cold months last year. Huffman purchased the Greenville farm the latter part of last winter, and during the present summer he had erected a big barn and a covered track, over which the yearlings in his charge will be broken and the older horses prepared for the spring campaign.
It is easy enough keying up a horse for the summer season in the spring, but Huffman proposes to take time by the forelock and have his string rendy to go for the money at the early spring meetings. This he is sure will not be so hard, now that he will have a suitable covered course, all to himself, where he can work his horses in secret. Then when the racing season rolls around every one will not have information from his stable, which ought to enable his partner Smith, who is one of the most daring plungers, to execute some of his big coups.
After the Latonia meeting closes, Huffman and Smith will bring Yo Tambien, Maid Marian, Ceverton, Van Buren, Forest Rose, Ohio Belle, Dollie McCool, Little Chris and the rest of their flyers to the Fair Grounds and race them until the snow flies. The entire string will then be taken to Greenville and turned out until next spring. This season the stable opened the campaign at Nashville, but it is probable the Fair Grounds spring meeting will be the oppelle solut sext year.

Dan Lamasney exponerow or Sacca and Aryll Fool, and his next start ought to be a good thing to have a bet down on. No
"dung-hill" horse will defeat him, it can be relied upon. Lamasney has engaged Jordan to ride both, and with Frank in the saddle the followers of the red and black sash will no doubt go down the line on the pair as if both races were all over.

Pat Grogan is not the only trainer disgusted with the manner in which the Fair Grounds programme is gotten up. It is asserted by a great many of them, especially the class that have good horses in charge, that the card is prepared in such a manner that the cwarts near Greenville, Ill., instead of at Cumber-land Park, Nashville, Tenn., where the stable spent the cold months last year. Huff-cabled instructions from England that the entire string he sent over last spring in charge of Tom Ochiltree will be sold at auction as soon as possible.

The result of Clifford's walk-over for the Richelieu stakes will serve as a lesson to the Hawthorne management in framing conditions in future. Under the conditions of the stake Ingomar and Morello were barred, and the other colts at the track ready to race, such as First Ward, Joe Murphy, Tyro, Hawthorne and The King, would have been compelled to take up equal weight with Clifford. Speaking of the report that the Garfield Park magnates had been offered a site near Miles Center, at a point just west of Ravenswood, outside the city limits of Chicago, upon which to erect a new track, John Condon said: "The owners of this property, which is convenient to railroads, offered us tracts of land very cheaply if we would put up a race track. They wished to make a boom in real estate. As far as the Garfield Park Club is concerned I can say that we never entertained the idea of moving the Garfield Park track to either of those places. It looks as if our grand stand and improvements will rot away out there at Garfield." The Knights of Pythias will have their night at South Side Park this evening, and the fifth race on the programme named after that order promises to be a corker.

The wholesaie and retail merchants will have their night at South Side on Saturday evening.

they are better judges of its height and dis-tance than I am. Nobody can tell better than a player himself whether he can get under a fly ball or not, and I have ordered my outhelders to call out themselves that they will take a ball they feel sure of reach-ing. In the infield it is the same rule that governs the players, except when a high fly is put up over or between the plate and the pitcher; then it is imperalive that one player must be called to take it. You'll find this is the way all out and infields are run now-adays. Old fogy ideas must go."

"Ubbo" Hornung, stamped "umpire" by Uncle Nick Young and turned loose on the National League, has been giving a fearful and wonderful exhibition at Sportsman's Park during the Brooklyn series. Every umpire has his peculiarities, but "Ubbo's" fad is entirely original. He waits until a batter has two strikes, and when he makes the third pass—no matter whether he comes within an inch or a yard of the ball—Ubbo startles everybody by yelling foul. This may be fun for Ubbo, but it is excruciating to the players. This trick has been done every game and yesterday it was material in helping the Browns to win.

Sharrot's wildness gave the Browns a game yesterday that they never could have won by their batting ability. The home teamparticularly shugart, who was in center, and Dowd, in right—deserve credit for remarkable fielding. Both outfielders, by clever throws, cut of men at the plate. The score: St. Louis, 3; Brooklyn, 8. Errors—St. Louis, 2; Brooklyn, 8. Winners and Losers.

ALL IS OVER.

The Attorney-General of Indiana Fays There Will Be No Mere Fights at Roby. There is much speculation over the appeal of President O'Mailey of the Roby club to the Supreme Court, says a Chicago dispatch. It is thought that he intends it as a preliminery step to a formal demand for a restoration of the property, on the ground that the appeal bond of $50,000 fully covered the State from loss. In giving bond on appeal in receivership cases it is assumed that the bond covers every possible phase of the case, and the rule $1,912.

has been to restore to the corporation the possession of its property whenever the bond was approved. This, however, is within the discretion of the Court. The Attorney-General of Indiana, passing upon this point, claims the law is explicit that the receiver shall have exclusive charge of the club's affairs until a final ruling. 'There is one thing certain,' adds this official, 'There will be no more fights at Hoby.'
